Objectives

This seminar intends to provide recently arrived international doctoral candidates at Halle University as well as at research institutes in Halle information about the administrative procedures and steps, which have to be undertaken and to get familiar with contact persons, who might help in case of questions.

Description

Participants will get to know other international doctoral candidates in the early stage of their doctorate as well as contact persons from the International Office / PhD Network and the International Graduate Academy. You can expect to get an overview of the University and to hear about services and activities especially designed for international PhD students. Throughout the seminar, participants are encouraged to identify their expectations about a doctorate in Germany and particularly in Halle and they will get the opportunity to ask questions if anything remains unclear about the forthcoming years of being a doctoral candidate at Halle University.
